U. S. TANKS CRACK NAZIS IN FRANCE

ALLIED NAVAL UNITS HIT JAPS AT TWO POINTS

Palau in Western Pacific and Sabang in East Indies Targets of Forces.

By the Associated Press
TOKYO, July 26—Allied naval task force operating 3,000 miles apart have assaulted Palau in the western Pacific and Sabang in the Dutch East Indies, the Japanese said today.

A U. S. task force made up chiefly of carriers struck Palau on an unspecified date, Tokyo said, and two out of 30 attacking planes were shot down. This unconfirmed announcement added to the usual Japanese vein that damage was small.

Cruisers, destroyers, submarines and carrier planes hit Sabang yesterday, the Japanese said in another unconfirmed broadcast, raiding the harbor and city there. Two allied destroyers and a submarine were sunk, Tokyo said.

Sabang, situated on We island of northwest Sumatra, was attacked April 19 by British-American-French-Dutch naval forces which smashed nearly every military installation in sight.

The Palau attack, if true, was a logical follow-up to the steady American progress on invaded Guam and Tinian to the north in the Marianas.

Palau Sea Fortress
Palau is one of Japan's most strategic sea fortresses and harbors the center of her south sea government. Its 100 islands shield the southern Philippines. Their geography explains its importance: It lies 500 miles east of Mindanao; 810 miles southwest of Guam; 800 miles northwest of Hollandia; Gen. MacArthur's big base on New Guinea; and is close to the Dutch East Indies.

The islands were hit a stunning three-day blow starting March 29. Task force 58—the most powerful and destructive naval unit in the history of sea warfare—destroyed 28 Japanese ships and about 200 planes in the first U. S. foray into the western Carolines. Most of the enemy fleet, tipped off by MacArthur's coming, fled "out of harm's way but the blow paved the way for the Saipan landings in June.

Marines, Soldiers Join
In five days of hard fighting Marines and Army troops joined beachheads on Guam and started grinding down Japanese forces trapped on Orote peninsula, south arm of Apra harbor.

"The beaches are well secured and there's nothing the Jap can do now to run us off," said Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, chief of American land forces on Guam. Doomed enemy troops jumped in the ocean when land and sea artillery opened heavy fire on Orote. An airdrop, a naval base and Agana, Guam's capital were the American objectives.

On Tinian, 123 miles northward, warships and plane bombardments split the Jap forces in two. Japanese troops suicidally rushed against the U. S. troops on the first night of invasion, screaming and waving Samourai swords. They were cut down like wheat. The invaders control part of an airfield.

Japs Lose Heavily In Northeastern India

By the Associated Press
SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, KANDY, CEYLON, July 26—Heavy losses in men and equipment have been inflicted on Japanese forces by allied troops attacking the main enemy defenses along the Palei-Tamu road in the northeastern India frontier region. An allied headquarters bulletin today said that on the Tidim road allied troops now had advanced to a point 32 miles from Imphal.

In northern Burma, meanwhile, small allied gains were reported in the siege of the Japanese stronghold of Myitkyina.

"Japs Can't Drive Us Out," Americans on Guam Declare

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR

July 26—Yank invaders of Guam, so firmly established that their general said "there's nothing the Jap can do now to run us off," laid heavy siege to Nipponese trapped by a juncture of American forces behind Port Apra.

Some hapless Japs jumped into the ocean, reported Al Dopping,

Associated Press war correspondent, as battleships, carrier planes and anti-aircraft batteries blanketed the Orote peninsula.

The neck of land, embracing an airfield and Sumay naval base, forms the southern end of the strait harbor behind which Marines and soldiers moved from north and south beachheads to the pasture.

"A pall of smoke from bombs and shells hangs over the peninsula like a masterful piece of oriental art," wrote John R. Henra, representing the combined press, from the shattered town of Agana on the south beachhead. He hinted that a Yank force on the peninsula was preparing.

Japs Wiped Out

Dropping said all Japs have been wiped out at the beachhead the enemy hasn't had a plane over the area since July 8, and the Nips are abandoning food and ammunition.

While one arm of the north beachhead force forked down before Port Apra, another reached the capital of Agana. Yanks slowly fought their way up dominating hills where Henry said, Japs

"had to be mined out like hard coal."

More than 100 miles north of Guam at invaded Tinian, spot aerial bombings and warship bombardments of rail and highway junctions split the island's Nipponese garrison into north and south forces.

Now Down Jap Attackers

Marine conquerors of nearby Saipan, bidding for complete seizure of partly occupied 4,500-foot Ushi airfield on the north-west tip of Tinian, mowed down the tank-led Japs.

From a flagship off Tinian, Richard W. Johnston, representing the combined allied press, reported the airfield defenders came out on the first night of the invasion screaming and waving Samurai swords in the suicidal manner usually reserved for the closing stages.

He interpreted this as meaning those Japanese know they can get no reinforcements from the southern force and are cracking under pressure.

1—Promote the flow of

in the stomach
2—Energize your body with
RICH RED BLOOD

These two important steps may help you to overcome the discomforts or embarrassment of your stomach and body nerves. Loss of appetite undergoes digestive complaints restlessness, poor complexion, etc.

A person who is generally thin only 15 to 35% healthy blood volume, or stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 80% normal is severely handicapped.

So with ample evidence of the value of RICH RED BLOOD you should take that sense of well-being which denotes physical fitness! It means alertness!

If you are subject to poor digestion, a susceptible stomach, and the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in

Shaw Doubtful of Lasting Allies Consider Peace with Italy

Famed British Wit Declares World Will Still Have To Live Dangerously.

George Bernard Shaw, the great English dramatist, said yesterday that the world will still have to live dangerously after the peace with Italy and the settlement with Germany are reached.

By GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

Written for The Associated Press

Shaw, if Germany is defeated, the relationship to her conquerors will be that of a wounded American authoress to a prudish censor. That is to say, we shall today, also, be a prudish peace with Italy, while how far the conqueror has been maimed and whether he is cured exactly will be left to the Italian soldiers.

That is how we shall treat Germany if we have any sense. She surely would have some sort of territorial claims and probably at least—not lawfully—certain final claims such as reparations, which is not a crime by the law of nations, though it is a later decision.

If we let loose our violent passions and indulge in an orgy of plunder and revenge, we shall pay for it and be sorry after.

LONDON—Or I believe a lasting peace can be assured by a sincere working and vigorous post-war alliance of the "Big Four"—Great Britain, the United States, Russia and China.

No. A lasting peace cannot be assured by any measures at present possible. Even a post-war alliance of the Big Four cannot be assured. The people who clamor for assurance and security are public curmudgeons.

Whatever arrangements follow the war must stay the dangerous, whether we like it or not.

(To a series of questions, Mr. Shaw wrote the following replies.)

Question: Should Germany be totally disarmed and split into small, separate states such as existed before they were united under Bismarck?

Shaw: Not. If disarmament and disintegration are desirable for Germany they are desirable for all the big powers as well. None of them will consent to it. The sort of armament that decides modern wars is so enormously expensive and needs such a big organization of industry that Washington, July 26—Navy Secretary Forrestal reported yesterday that American casualties in the conquest of Saipan in the western Pacific Marianas group totaled 16,463 men, including 3,039 killed in action, 13,449 wounded and 366 missing.

He told a news conference that more than 5,000 of the wounded already had returned to duty and were participating in the attack against the Japanese on Tinian, also in the Marianas.

"This reduces our net losses of about a third," he said. "Or should there be an interim government immediately after the war?"

Question: Should the German people be permitted to choose and elect their own form of government?

Shaw: If the German people are not permitted to choose and elect their own form of government, the government must be imposed on them by the allies, in which case it will not be their own form of government.

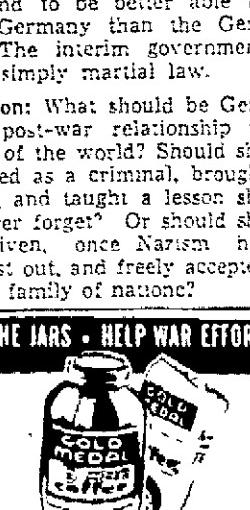

He will be like our Indian civil service, the only available model, except that the nationality of its members will be mixed. This would be ending as the Indian service is.

As none of the allies except Russia has yet succeeded in governing itself decently or even sufficiently—India has just lost two millions of people through a preventable famine—we could hardly pretend to be better able to govern Germany than the Germans.

The interim government will be simply martial law.

Question: What should be Germany's post-war relationship to the rest of the world? Should she be treated as a criminal, brought to book, and taught a lesson she will never forget? Or should she be forgiven once Nazism has been cast out, and freely accepted into the family of nations?

SALE OF UTILITY IN Hitler Forges OHIO AGAIN DELAYED

DISPUTE SETTLED Bonds on People Never Matched

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

HITLER'S decree for total mobilization throughout the reich and occupied territories continues a regimentation of the individual such as perhaps no despot of history, even in the dark ages, ever attempted.

It is after the blood in the water. He proposes to make all human endeavor excepting that which is directed towards total war.

Every person who is capable of work will be assigned a task to this end. No class can escape. Even the government services seem to be combed ruthlessly to secure further cannon fodder and war workers.

The meaning of this amazing reorganization is that Hitler apparently is determined to fight to a finish. He's going to make the allies dig him out of his hole like the rat he is.

Few Hold All Power

In order to secure efficiency the Nazi dictator has streamlined his government and put the task in the hands of just a few. Three men hold the chief positions under his supreme command.

Hitler's deputy, Reich Marshal Goering, is to adapt the whole of public life to the requirements of total war. Propaganda Minister Goebbel's is entrusted with the task of smacking out every ounce of war energy, no matter where he may find it. The murderous gestapo chief, "Hangman" Himmler, is to enforce orders through his big army of fanatical Nazi SS troops—and this means that any disobedience or opposition will be punished by death.

How long Hitler will be able to make such regimentation stick remains to be seen, but it looks like a formidable set-up. He may be able to keep the reich, and to a considerable degree the occupied countries, in hand for the time being.

However, as this column remarked the other day, we are mainly concerned with the fighting fronts rather than with the German home front. Our way to lasting peace certainly lies in the smashing of the enemy war machine on the battlefield.

Bloody Times Ahead

There can be small doubt that Hitler's extension of the Nazi regime and its tyrannical power means blood on the moon for the reich and the occupied countries. Reports indicate that Himmler is cutting a crimson swath in his purge of all who even have given a friendly nod to the rebelling Russian militarists.

The signs are that the purge may be directed against all opposition to the Nazi regime—and there are many Germans who never have approved of Hitler. This is the opportunity for him to do a house-cleaning, and he could have selected no more willing agent than Himmler, who seems to take a sadistic delight in murder.

Of course, it's always possible that this handful of brigands who now control the reich may fall to fighting among themselves. There have been reports, for instance, that Himmler had an eye on Hitler's job. However, there's no indication thus far that the führer isn't still the big boss of the outfit.

Agree on Proposal To End Armc Strike

By The Associated Press

ASHLAND, Ky., July 26—A settlement proposal designed to end a CIO unionist strike at the Ashland plant of the American Rolling Mills Co. was submitted to the membership of the local this morning.

The proposal, agreed upon by management and CIO-United Steel Workers officials, was accepted tentatively by the strikers, who dispersed picket lines at the plant late last night.

Details of the settlement, which had the approval of Army and Navy labor relations representatives on the scene, were not announced.

Meanwhile, the strike yesterday had forced start of a halt in production at the Clayton Lumber Shell Co. here, and the shutdown would have thrown 2,400 employees out of work in addition to the 2,500 idle Armc employees.

Charges Husband Caused Imprisonment in Spain

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., July 26—In a divorce suit filed yesterday in Stark county common pleas court, Mrs. Maria Miniz, 35-year-old Canton waitress, accused her husband of causing her imprisonment and near execution at the hands of Falangist authorities in Spain during the Spanish civil war.

The Spanish-born Canton waitress declared in her petition that her husband, Hilario F. Pato, who still is in Spain, was a Falangist and a Hitlerian Fascist sympathizer of Gen. Francisco Franco and that he denounced her before Franco authorities because of her opposition to his political beliefs.

The denunciation led to her imprisonment three times and twice she was saved from execution by reprieves, the waitress asserted in her action. Mrs. Miniz returned to this country more than a year ago.

BRICKER SEES G.O.P. SUCCESS

Predicts Victory in Midwest Despite Truman Nomination.

The Associated Press, N.Y., July 24—Gov. Dewey's prediction at a conference today the Republicans will win deep into the states in November and again despite the Democratic nomination of Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon as a presidential candidate.

Bricker told reporters he hoped to conduct a vigorous campaign, similar to that which he waged for the presidential nomination before the convention met. He added, however, that "my plans are in the hands of the national organization."

Dewey has indicated that much of today's conference will concern itself with the agenda of a meeting of Republican governors beginning Aug. 2 in St. Louis, which the governor said yesterday will cover "a variety of major subjects" not included in the G.O.P. platform.

Gov. Gardner Dewey sitting down on the veranda of his mansion. Bricker told his fellowmen that he personally demanded the support of all who wished to vote the Republican ticket. He was asked about a recent editorial in the United Mine Workers Journal which some interpreted as fa-

DRIVES MAY HASTEN NAZI COLLAPSE. With turmoil in Germany causing Prime Minister Churchill to predict a possible early end of the European war, many observers believe the terrific Red drive in the East will hasten further Nazi upheavals. Centering attention, as shown on the map, is the smash toward Warsaw.

At the present rate of advance, the Red Army might reach this vital goal by the end of the week. To the north, the drive from Kaunas toward East Prussia was also considered since it heads toward Danzig and Koenigsberg, both scenes of Nazi repellent activities. (International)

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

A Menacing Disease

Every war which the United States has ever fought has brought back to temperate regions an increased incidence of malaria. We take Massachusetts as an example because we have very complete reports on that region. This area is pre-eminently not a malarial country. The weather is not conducive to the breeding of the mosquitoes which carry malaria, and there are no extensive swamp lands to furnish the ideal habitat for the mosquito.

Under normal conditions with historical times the incidence of malaria in Massachusetts is almost nil. In 1864, however, soldiers returning from the Civil War who had been fighting and living in southern climates raised the malaria incidence in Massachusetts to a high peak and furnished a reservoir so that even the civil population had some experience with the disease.

After the Spanish American war in the same region the same results were noted, only in a more marked degree. From 1915 to 1919 there was a slight rise in the reported incidence, due entirely to sailors in the Marine Hospital. Now returning soldiers from the Pacific, Italy and Africa raise the incidence anew.

"My word, Chief!" he exclaimed. "This is terrific! I'm not sure yet of what he's got, but it looks as if the old boy had a tiger by the tail!"

"I imagine he has," my father said, a bit feebly. "He was trailing a tiger the last time I heard from him. He's had time to catch it by this time, but apparently he's having a hard time to keep the animal from turning and rending him. I'll know more about it when I get this code transcribed."

He bent over his code book again, and Jack lifted his head so I could see his left eyelid drooped over his cheek in the expressive winkle which in my childhood used to send me off into gales of laughter. I almost guffawed as it was, but restrained myself in time to meet my father's impudent eyes.

"Well, Margaret," he said, "for what are you waiting?"

"She was going a bit too fast for me, Chief," Jack said readily, defusing my father's irritation. "But I'm all right now, Lady," he went on quickly. "Please resume."

Completes Formula

I went on through to the end of the formulae, sometimes repeating certain sections at Jack's request, while my curiosity mounted to fever heat at the low whistles and exclamations which came from his lips at intervals.

"That is all of yours, I think." I said at last. "The rest is the code for Father, I am sure."

"How about it, Chief?" Jack asked, restraining the violent excitement which I guessed was seething within him. "Are you ready for the code at the end of this formulae, or will Madge have time to run it through again for my checking against my own possible errors? It ought to take only a few minutes."

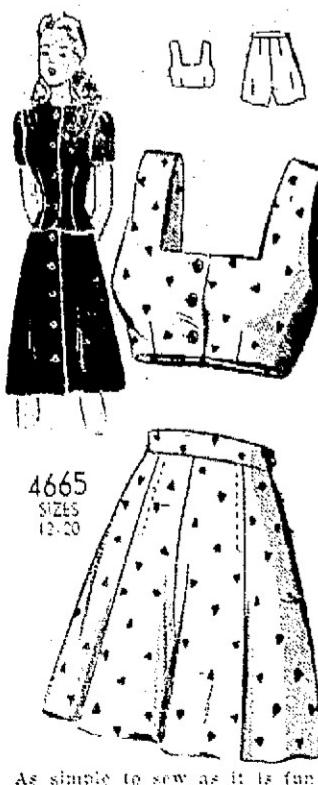

Speaks Gruffly

"Go ahead," my father said gruffly, without lifting his eyes from the code book. "I think Hugh has his words mixed. I appear to be stymied. Perhaps I'll
